

Action Speeded To Fill Gap In Aid To Europe

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP)—Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.) today promised swift action to fill a $1,250,000,000 gap in the European aid program.

The veteran lawmaker is due to become chairman of the House appropriations committee January 3. That will put him in a position to give a powerful shove to an expected administration request for the additional Marshall plan funds.

President Truman foreshadowed such a request yesterday in authorizing Economic Cooperation Administrator Paul G. Hoffman to use the entire $4,000,000,000 European recovery fund by next April 2 instead of making it last until July 1.

The 80th Congress gave Mr. Truman that option in finally approving the foreign aid appropriation bill which House Republicans tried to slash last spring, spearheaded by Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.), retiring appropriations committee chairman.

Cannon, however, told reporters he will push the new measure as quickly as possible because "things seem to be moving pretty rapidly in Europe."

That echoed Hoffmann's view. "Now is the time," he said, "to hit and hit hard for recovery."

The White House disclosed that the ECA boss had asked for the speed-up order on October 29. In his letter to the president, Hoffman said only such action would meet "the pressing minimum needs" of the 16 Marshall plan countries, the Allied zones of Germany and Trieste.

The $275,000,000 China aid program which ECA administrators was not included in the presidential spending order. With their additional $125,000,000 military aid fund nearly exhausted, the Chinese now are pressing for a much larger sum to help turn back their Communist foes.

American grain traders, meantime, breathed easier as the ECA revealed plans to honor some $50,000,000 in contracts between the dealers and foreign nations.

ECA Food Chief Dennis A. Fitzgerald cleared up the situation last night. He told newsmen an order will be issued Monday which provides:

1—Payment to private firms for grain purchases authorized by ECA before November 22, including contracts which may be signed after that date but for which money has been earmarked.

2—Continued purchase of flour from private sources, although foreign countries can ask CCC to buy for them.

3—Procurement of corn, rye, barley, oats and grain sorghums solely from CCC.

Heavy Losses Fail To Stop China Reds

Nanking, Nov. 27 (AP)—The battle for the approaches to the Chinese capital of Nanking spread today over a 100 mile radius south of Suchow.

Ten thousand Red troops reportedly were encircled at Chang-ping, only 40 miles north of Nanking, one newspaper said.

Mother Of 4 Freed In Bedroom Slaying

Bragging Spouse Blamed For Fatal Shooting

Detroit, Nov. 27 (AP)—Dark-eyed Mrs. Frances Fitzpatrick is free of a charge of murder in the bedroom shooting of her husband.

The 32-year-old mother of four, however, faces a sanity hearing. A jury ruled her innocent by reason of insanity last night and she welcomed the verdict with tears, then a smile and said:

"I knew all the time God wouldn't fail me."

Recorder's Judge W. McKay Skillman ordered Mrs. Fitzpatrick committed to the state hospital at Jonia but her attorney, Louis J. Colombo sr., secured her release to him on a writ of habeas corpus.

A sanity hearing was tentatively set for Dec. 8.

The jury of eight women and four men reached their verdict after about four hours of deliberation.

The slight, demure-looking mother maintained that she did not know what happened the night of March 5 when her husband, John, 32, was shot and killed at their home. The prosecution claimed Mrs. Fitzpatrick had "coldly" planned the shooting.

Attorney Colombo called his client "a tragic madonna goaded by her husband's bragging of his amorous conquests."

Mrs. Fitzpatrick testified she had been forced for months to listen to her husband's bragging of affairs with other women.

Hex Of Condemned Jake Bird Counts Its Fifth Death

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 27 (AP)—"All you guys who had anything to do with this case are going to die before I do."

That was what Jake Bird, itinerant Negro, said after he was condemned to death last November.

As though fulfilling what is now known as the Jake Bird "Hex" the fifth person associated with the case died yesterday.

He was J. W. Selden, the lawyer who defended Bird. Like all the others, he was a victim of a heart attack.

Inform of the death in the Pierce county jail, Jake observed: "The Bible say rejoice when anyone dies, feel bad when anyone is born."

Before the 75-year-old lawyer died, death claimed two policemen and the court clerk who figured in the trial as well as the judge who conducted it.

Jake stalled off death with an appeal to the state supreme court. He lost the appeal and is now awaiting the supreme court's order for his execution.

Three Face Charges In Fatal Bellaire Highway Shooting

Bellaire, Nov. 27 (AP)—Three men held in connection with the shooting of Gerald Lee, East Jordan farmer, face arraignment today in Justice court on an open charge of murder.

The shooting followed damage to a car driven by Charles McNeil and occupied by Theodore McNeil, his son, and Rex Lovell. Lee was driving the other car.

DISTINCTIVE MA—Rosemary De Camp, veteran screen mother, was named "America's Mother of Distinction for 1948" by Dr. Paul Popenoe, director of the American Institute of Family Relations for "glorifying American motherhood." Mother of three children herself, she is the wife of Hollywood Municipal Court Judge John Schidler.

Berlin Peace Urgent; U. S. Yields On Mark

Great Drive Launched To Expand CIO

By MAX HALL
Portland, Ore., Nov. 27 (AP)—The CIO executive board pushes the starting button today for what Philip Murray calls "the mightiest organizing crusade" in American history.

Riding into his ninth year as CIO president, Murray demanded a campaign of this size yesterday as the CIO convention adjourned.

The first step was up to the executive board.

The convention gave to the board the power to take whatever action may be "appropriate and necessary" to organize workers in fields where CIO unions have failed to do the job.

Many CIO leaders expected the board today to hand this enormous power over to President Murray, Secretary-Treasurer James Carey, and the nine CIO vice-presidents.

All those officers were re-elected yesterday without a peep of opposition.

Murray has already named three of the organizing fields, and the unions that have "failed" in them, as follows:

1—White collar workers (United Office & Professional Workers Union).

2—Governmental employees (United Public Workers).

3—Retail clerks (Retail & Wholesale Union).

Murray during the convention also pounded leaders of three other small unions with scornful criticism. They are the Food & Tobacco Workers, the Mine, Mill & Smelter Workers, and the American Communications Association.

Leaders of all six unions, with the exception of the Retail & Wholesale Union, were in the left-wing opposition to Murray's policies in the convention debates.

Murray told them forcefully that he will not protect "cliques" of men whose interests are promoted by the Communist party.

Yesterday the convention delegates re-elected President Murray by acclamation. They put on a screeching, banging, parading, band-playing, confetti-throwing demonstration that lasted 39 minutes.

The small, unhappy minority of Communists and their associates stood quietly by their chairs. Murray hurled a final thunderbolt at the Communists, rounding out a week when he has attacked them every morning and every afternoon.

Football Rowdies Given Diaper Cure

Boston Judge Says Baby Treatment Works

Boston, Nov. 27 (AP)—A little baby treatment—diapers and all—is the thing to curb rowdiness and vandalism.

Judge John H. Connelly suggested the treatment might put an end to Thanksgiving Day football brawls which were numerous in greater Boston over the holiday.

He explained in a post-holiday interview that his court had excellent results with the treatment.

It consists of sentencing the rowdies to live the lives of babies for 24 hours during which they wear diapers, drink from nipped bottles, and play in a baby-pen.

He said no one ever subjected to the "cure" came back to his juvenile court.

The Boston juvenile court judge told a Boston Globe reporter that the offenders were placed in custody of their parents who cooperated in imposing the treatment.

A probation officer made the rounds to see that the "sentences" were carried out in full.

"I am very happy," Judge Connelly said, "that not one of those boys has been in any kind of trouble in the year since."

"It cured them of what we explained to them was stupid, unthinking mischief that only babies can be allowed to commit."

The boys were convicted of destroying school property.

Man Who Stepped On Toes Shot Dead

Chicago Nov. 27 (AP)—A man who stepped on another man's toes in a restaurant was shot to death today.

The dead man was identified as Joseph Grzeta, 27, of Chicago. Held without charge are Charles Tanthorpe, 26, and his brother-in-law, Raymond Fassett, 40, both of Chicago.

FALLS 75 FEET—Nick Joran of 1629 Sheridan Road smiles from his hospital bed as he recuperates from a 75-foot fall off the C&N.W. ore docks at Escanaba on Thanksgiving night. He slipped into an ore pocket, bounced down an ore chute into the water 30 feet from the dock, and escaped with bruises and a chilly wetting.

"I guess I'm lucky," Joran says.

Strikebound Docks Await Union Vote To Free Shipping

By GEORGE B. CORNELL
New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Waterfront workers begin voting today on whether they will accept agreements that would free most of the nation's merchant fleet from the grip of strikes.

There were isolated criticisms of the new peace pacts. But at several port cities along the eastern seaboard, local leaders of the AFL International Longshoremen's association said last night they expected members to okay the new contract formula in balloting today.

Some of the 65,000 east coast dockworkers—on strike for 18 days—were expected to return to work tomorrow, and the others Monday, if the newly-negotiated terms were approved.

The east coast dock workers previously rejected a negotiated agreement calling for a 10-cent raise in the basic rate.

On the west coast, where 27,000 longshoremen have been on strike for 87 days, there was some doubt that there would be complete maritime peace.

Doubt was caused by demands by Harry Lundeberg's AFL Sailors' Union of the Pacific, which was not among the striking unions but whose members were idled by the tieup.

"The shipowners haven't settled anything so far as we are concerned," said Lundeberg.

He said his union would not go back to work until certain wage gains and cargo-handling rights were assured by the shipowners.

However, indications for a reopening of Pacific shipping appeared good, following ratification of the proposed contract by the Waterfront Employers' association. The terms provide a 15-cent boost in the previous basic hourly rate of $1.67.

School At Ava, Ill. Has Blackout Siege

Students Induce Comas, May Be Expelled

Ava, Ill., Nov. 27 (AP)—A high school principal has warned students they will be expelled from school if they continue the fad of self-induced blackouts which he had ordered halted.

Ava school officials said in the method reported used by some students, the subject kneels, breathes deeply about 10 times, clasps his lips tightly around his thumb, puffs out his cheeks and holds his breath until he goes into an apparent coma.

Principal J. H. Hammack of the Tri-County Consolidated High school here said students had been warned they would be expelled if they continued practicing the fad.

Hammack said the practice came to a head when a girl freshman blacked herself out 15 times. She finally became unconscious for two hours and required a stimulant before she came out of it in hysteria. Later she told a girl friend she dreamed "some vague, shapeless monster" was chasing her. A doctor said he treated her for anoxemia. The girl friend fainted and suffered convulsions during her schoolmate's unconsciousness.

Hammack called a student assembly to witness the reviving of the girls.

A later bulletin said the liberal leader had rallied slightly. Doctors said he might continue the same way for 24 or 48 hours.

Earlier, he was reported sinking fast and received the last Sacraments of the Greek Orthodox church.

Sophoulis was stricken with two heart attacks in two days and suffered a relapse during the night. The first attack came on his birthday last Wednesday. He had another attack Thursday.

An attendant at the Premier's office where Sophoulis has been treated since the first attack, said the Premier fully realizes all hope is gone. The attendant said that when the doctors were giving Sophoulis stimulants he suggested that he be allowed to pass on.

Blockade Remains Stumbling Block In Cold War Solution

Four - Power Directives Of Aug. 30 Observed

Paris, Nov. 27 (AP)—Willard L. Thorp, assistant secretary of state said today the U. S. accepts the idea that the Soviet mark should be used in all of Berlin.

He told a special news conference the United States has in no way withdrawn from the agreement to accept the Moscow directives of August 30.

Thorp, who advises the U. S. delegation to the United Nations on Berlin currency questions, said the Aug. 30 four-power directives were the basis for the security council resolution on Berlin which was accepted by the western powers and vetoed by Russia Oct. 25.

Crisis Gets Worse
One American source said, however, the Berlin political situation is deteriorating fast. This source contended it is "very urgent" that a Berlin solution must be reached over increasing difficulties.

The American informant said for the moment nothing was in sight except the apparently stalled effort by the security council's six neutrals to end the Soviet blockade of Berlin, which still stands as the main stumbling block in the whole crisis.

Meanwhile, Argentine Foreign Minister Juan Bramuglia, who has led the neutral effort for the last two months, is planning to wind up his job. His term as council president expires Nov. 30.

He said he was certain a plan "would be on the move" by Dec. 1, when Fernand van Langenhove of Belgium will succeed him. Bramuglia said he did not mean a solution for Berlin would be reached by then.

He was understood to be working on a draft which would create an expert commission including representatives of the neutrals as well as of Russia and the western powers to try to settle the currency problem.

Russians Stand Pat
Earlier, there had been indications that hope was dwindling for a settlement of the Berlin crisis by the United Nations. Bramuglia was showing the big four powers a draft of a currency accord worked out by the neutrals.

This compromise currency formula was based on replies by Russia and the western powers to five questions about Berlin currency put to them by Bramuglia. There was nothing in this about the blockade. The answers were made public last night.

The Russians stood firm on the principles laid down in the tentative agreement reached among the four powers in Moscow last August.

The U. S., Britain and France apparently shifted their positions, claiming mainly that the situation in the Russian-blockaded former German capital had changed sufficiently in the past three months to outdate the Moscow agreement.

Canada Hails Flow Of Potatoes To U. S.

American Surplus Costs Government Millions

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP)—American potato growers won't have to compete with the Canadian product the rest of this marketing season.

The agriculture department gave that assurance yesterday in announcing that the Canadian government has agreed to halt all spud exports December 1 except those sent to this country for seed purposes.

In recent weeks American growers and Congress members have protested that the Canadians were underselling home grown potatoes at a time when the U. S. government was spending $100,000,000 to take 63,500,000 surplus bushels off the market.

In addition to the $100,000,000 price support outlay, the agriculture department has ordered next year's potato lands reduced by 200,000 acres and has set 60 per cent as the parity price instead of the current 90 per cent. (Parity is the theoretical "fair to everyone" price Congress authorized.)

Canada, meanwhile, announced it is instituting a price support program for its potato growers. It will fix the purchase amount next April.

Tojo's Trip To Gallows Kept Secret

By RUSSELL BRINES

Tokyo, Nov. 27 (AP)—General MacArthur's headquarters, still refusing to let newsmen witness the execution of Hidaki Tojo and six other war criminals, relaxed his position ever so slightly today.

Col. M. P. Echols, MacArthur's publicity chief, agreed, on the importing of correspondents, to release "as soon as possible" a bulletin after the hangings are secretly carried out at Sugamo prison.

Details will follow, Echols said, as soon afterwards as they can be "prepared in the form of a typed release."

The previous plan called for release of the news at 10 a. m. (8 p. m. EST, the previous date) regardless of when the men were hanged.

Previously, MacArthur had refused to permit even one newsmen to witness the hangings, although the army in the execution of top German Nazis permitted a "pool" man representing the major news services to attend those executions.

MacArthur himself declined to discuss the coverage of the important post-war news event with correspondents. Colonel Echols, ordinarily an easy going officer, somewhat nervously and irritably today read a statement in the name of MacArthur, that said:

"The same procedure will be followed with reference to these war criminals as has been established and practiced here from the beginning in accord with the general proprieties involved."

Gaylord Boys Held For Spite Killing

Woodman Wouldn't Help Hide School Truancy

Gaylord, Mich., Nov. 27 (AP)—Three boys were held today in the "spite killing" of an elderly woodcutter who wouldn't help them cover up their school truancy.

Authorities said the three youngsters, the eldest 13, admitted the fatal shooting of 66-year-old Arthur King in the woods near here Nov. 18.

Named in a formal state police warrant were Richard Damer, 13; his brother, Harry, 10, and Robert Ack, 12, all of Vanderbilt, Mich.

Police planned to take them to probate (juvenile) court today.

King was shot, it was said, because he refused to chop down a tree so that it would fall across a power line.

According to Prosecutor Paul Kenny, the boys imagined this would cause consternation in town and "their absence from school wouldn't be noticed."

They had "skipped school" that day, Kenny said they told him, and encountered King while they roamed in the woods with a .22 rifle purchased with money which they stole from a home.

The boys, Kenny said, gave a complete story of the incident, relating that after King had chased them off they returned and shot him.

Big Livestock Show Opens In Chicago

Display Worth 5 Million Under Single Roof

Chicago, Nov. 27 (AP)—An estimated $5,000,000 worth of cattle, horses, sheep and swine were assembled under a single roof today at the International Livestock Exposition opened for its 49th annual eight-day run.

From 42 states and five Canadian provinces exhibitors brought more than 12,500 head of livestock and almost 3,000 samples of nearly perfect grains to compete in this agricultural world's fair.

Exhibitors, both junior and senior, will have pocketed more than $100,000 in prize money, in addition to receipts from sale of their prize stock, before the exposition closes next Saturday.

Stock sold at the show a year ago netted the owners a total of some $2,000,000.

Farm boys and girls dominated the opening day of the exposition, parading their beautifully primped animals before judges in the junior livestock feeding contest.

The junior exhibitors brought 811 baby beavers to the exposition. These, however, were reduced to about 400 yesterday when animals that failed to meet the high standards of the contest were eliminated.

LOGGER URGES NEW INDUSTRY

Waino Komula Addresses
Hancock C. of C.

Hancock, Mich.—There are occasions when some community leader will get on his feet at a group or public meeting and make a sincere effort to arouse in his neighbor's minds thoughts of the opportunities the Copper Country offers in the way of industrial expansion.

Speaking at the Wednesday luncheon meeting of the Hancock Chamber of Commerce, Waino Komula, well known Copper Country logging contractor, made an earnest appeal for a full scale industrialization program to be shared in by all communities for one set purpose—the future security of the average citizen of the Copper Country.

Regarding the present, Mr. Komula presented a picture of closed mines, government subsidies, cuts in farm products, and virgin stands of timber that are rapidly diminishing. The situation, he said, will become more serious unless something is done to counteract the situation by a program of vigorous rehabilitation.

Mr. Komula in presenting the picture in this light looks ahead some years and is thinking of a future generation of workers. He believes the Copper Country does have a future if it begins to utilize its assets, of which there are many.

Mr. Komula insists that if the Copper Country wants new industries, it must go out and seek them. To do this he believes the district must have a prepared program that will have the backing of all the Copper Country communities, their Chambers of Commerce and other groups working together as one for all, he says. Any industry, no matter where located, will benefit each community.

"Keep our people here, give them employment and a future that is assured," is Mr. Komula's thought. It is his suggestion that a general industrial committee be formed, of leaders in each community to set up a general program, also that a salaried promoter be a part of the agenda, to put the program in motion, make outside contacts and present offerings.

Woods Utilization
Mr. Komula as a logging operator is particularly interested in this phase of industry. He believes the Copper Country offers a rare opportunity for the location of a woods utilization plant, be it pulp, lumber, for veneers or chemical purposes. His field of vision is even broader as he spoke of markets for farm products, the turning out of castings, citing the foundry at Ripley as serving a purpose.

The cull grade of Copper Country woods lands, left after timber cuttings, runs from 60 to 75 per cent in volume. Mr. Komula declared. He stressed that on these lands there is enough cull wood within a radius of 75 miles for a utilization plant to employ 1,000 men for years to come.

With cull wood used, he said, a better and more selective cutting program can be maintained and new areas opened for farming purposes.

Mr. Komula stressed the need of having a general industrial committee set up to represent each community's labor and industry and the man in the street.

Farrell May Get Key Post From Williams

Lansing—Lawrence L. Farrell of Escanaba is certain to have an important spot in the personal administrative family of G. Menen Williams, Democratic governor-elect.

Farrell, a former state highway department employee, also has held federal government jobs in Michigan. He joined Williams when the former state liquor commissioner announced his candidacy for governor on June 1.

May Be Executive Secretary
Williams was deputy Michigan OPA administrator under Farrell. The incoming governor got that job early in 1946, after he left the United States navy.

Although Williams is delaying announcement of key appointments to his office staff, Farrell is expected to be executive secretary, but might wind up in some other "front office" job.

Farrell was outstate campaign manager for Williams and also handled most of the details in the Detroit headquarters. He will come here early in December, at least as acting executive assistant, a job he has been handling since the election.

Headed State OPA
Hicks G. Griffiths, Williams' law partner, was his general campaign manager. Joseph Wisniewski handled arrangements in Wayne county.

Farrell joined the highway department in 1932 as a field man and became chief clerk for the Upper Peninsula before leaving the organization in 1940. Before that he represented a cash register company.

In 1940 Farrell became Upper Peninsula director for WPA. In April, 1943, he was named district OPA director for the Upper Peninsula, then moved to Saginaw when two districts were combined in October, 1945. He became state director Jan. 1, 1946. Williams was his deputy from early in 1946 until July 1, 1947.

Farrell was in business for himself, selling road equipment and machinery, for about 18 months between his OPA and Williams-for-governor campaign jobs.

Prisons Drop Ban On Talk At Meals

Lansing (P)—Abolition of a rule against inmates talking during meals at the Ionia State Reformatory was announced by Corrections Commissioner Joseph W. Sanford.

A similar rule at Marquette branch prison was abolished last month.

HERRING CATCH FLOODS MARKET

35,000 Pounds Taken In
One Day At Escanaba

The annual fall herring run is on in Green Bay waters with the catch exceeding last year, it was reported today by Roy Jensen of the Jensen & Jensen fish market in Escanaba.

Jensen said the catch yesterday by local fishermen totaled about 35,000 pounds "and we have 22,000 pounds on the dock we don't know what to do with." Freezing and storage space is filled and the market today is over-supplied.

The price fishermen were receiving had been up as high as 5 1/2 cents a pound here. Now buying has dropped and so has the price, which will remain low until the demand improves.

Tons of herring have been trucked from Escanaba to Menominee where the Dormer company has facilities for salting and freezing the fish. The market there is also flooded by one of the best herring runs in several years.

The herring run is expected to continue for another week, although it may drop off suddenly. Thousands of tons of herring are frozen and stored for mink food on the fur ranches in Northern Michigan and Wisconsin.

Hunter Lost 3 Days Enjoys Birthday At Marquette Hospital

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 27 (P)—Orlyn Pepper celebrates his 34th birthday today—the one he didn't think he would live to see.

The Addison, Mich., deer hunter is recovering in a Marquette hospital from exposure after being lost for three days and nights in storm-buffed northern Michigan woods.

"I could never have pulled through another night," he admitted.

Pepper wandered away from a deer hunting camp near Michigamme Nov. 19. He carried a hunting knife, compass, rifle and five cartridges.

When he realized he was lost in some of Michigan's wildest terrain, he fired three shots. They failed to bring any answer. He used up another cartridge trying to start a fire with its powder. That left him with just one "for emergency use."

Meanwhile, a heavy rain turned to snow as Pepper tried to guide himself to safety with his compass. It did not work properly, he said, apparently because of heavy metal deposits in the area.

Pepper made a bed of boughs where he tried to sleep at night. But he had to get up every hour or so to exercise against the

Hastings Will Appear In Wildlife Lectures

Walter E. Hastings, staff photographer of the Michigan Department of Conservation for 23 years, will appear on the Hiawatha Wildlife Lecture Series at the Wm. W. Oliver auditorium, sponsored jointly by the University of Michigan Extension Service and the Wolverine Conservation club.

Hastings will close the series of five lectures here on March 29. The series will open Wednesday evening, Dec. 1, when Tom and Arlene Hadley will lecture and show color movies of the Upper Peninsula. Other lectures will be Ben East, roving editor of Outdoor Life; Arthur Sinclair, chalk-talk artist, and Walter P. Nickell, naturalist-photographer.

Hastings will show two films, "Colorful Michigan" and "Audubon's Labrador." The first picture will show birds, animals and beautiful Michigan scenery. This picture has several interesting sequences, including a male ruffed grouse drumming and a somewhat humorous sequence involving a 400-pound black bear. The Labrador film will dwell on the manner of living in that country, showing seal fishing, elder down gathering and fishing. Hastings will contrast Michigan with its advantages to the hardships of Labrador.

The searching party was upon him before he heard them. "I couldn't believe my eyes," Pepper said. "I had been completely confident all the time I was lost until just before they found me."

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS ABOUT DIAMONDS

(Number Four of a Series)

One day the small son of a poor farmer in South Africa was playing with a pile of stones near his farmhouse. One of the stones caught his mother's eye. She showed it to a neighbor who bought it for a small sum. Later the stone passed into the hands of a man who knew it for a precious diamond. . . and thus were discovered the great African Diamond Mines.

U. P. TRAPPERS ARE GLOOMY

Muskrat And Mink Fur
Prices Are Down

By EDWARD H. MATTSON
Newberry, Mich.—Upper Peninsula trappers report the fur business is in the doldrums.

Retail sales of finished fur goods are lagging. As early as July, government luxury tax collections had fallen 10 per cent as compared with a year ago, despite price markups.

The price of raw furs through September and October fell about 40 per cent. When the Michigan trapping season opened, Nov. 1, there were no fur buyers on the road for the first time in years. Fur houses were not backing buyers nor would they guarantee prices long enough for the buyers to get their furs to the fur houses.

Finally, when the buyers started buying, they paid trappers $1.50 for muskrats that a year ago were bringing $2.00. Mink that a year ago were bringing somewhere around $30 now are worth $15.

Trappers naturally were hard hit by the low prices. Their operating expenses, gasoline, automobile repairs and so forth, were at peak prices. Previous high fur prices had stiffened trapping competition. Adding to their misfortune is the rabbit disease that has infected and virtually exterminated the muskrats in some areas.

Some trappers, particularly those with the long-range viewpoint, see some good in the overall picture. They have felt that the increased trapping, encouraged by high prices, would eventually have a bad effect on the fur situation.

When muskrats were selling for nearly $3 each, trappers figured two or three muskrats a day would pay them to trap. Often trappers set their traps out until the last muskrat sign disappeared. This year, after the low price became known, trappers quit cold and pulled out.

Big Business

RECENTLY we referred to the City of Escanaba as a corporation which operates on a budget of a half million dollars a year. In a closer study of the city's annual report, we learned that the total cost of operating the various departments and utilities of the City of Escanaba is actually in excess of $1,000,000 per year.

It is easy to make this error. The City of Escanaba has two separate budgets. One is for the general operation of the city departments, exclusive of utilities. The general city expenditures last year were $548,000. It was this figure that prompted our reference to the City of Escanaba as a half-million dollar per year corporation. The second budget is the utilities budget, for the operation of the four municipally-owned utilities—electric, gas, water and steam. Expenditures for these utilities in the last fiscal year, ending June 30, were $485,000. Total expenditures for general services and utilities operation were $1,033,000.

Total assets of the city, according to the annual report, are $5,103,902. General city assets, exclusive of utilities, total $3,263,208 and the value of the city utilities is estimated at $1,804,694.

It is evident from these figures that the City of Escanaba is truly big business—and it is your business.

Price Control Is No Solution

WHEN the new Congress convenes in January, it will be presented with a proposal from President Truman for stand-by price controls and rationing powers. Such a proposal was flatly rejected by the 80th Congress and although the Democrats will be in command of the 81st Congress, there is no certainty that the lawmakers will vote a return to price control.

The tide of inflation is beginning to run out. Surpluses have actually been built up in an increasing number of commodities. As price control serves as a barrier to production, lawmakers will be extremely reluctant to vote controls which could easily turn economic prosperity into a business recession.

Organized labor has been leading the chorus for a return to price controls but labor would be the first to suffer in the event of an economic recession. Even now jobs are not plentiful and in some sections of the country, including the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, unemployment is evident. Instead of pushing the price controls, which would have an adverse effect upon employment, organized labor would do better by seeking price stabilization within the structure of our present economic level. This would mean, of course, abandonment of plans for a fourth round general wage boost, the inevitable effect of which would be to push prices even higher.

Red Dean Visits America

MAYOR ZEIDLER of Milwaukee was asked to extend official greetings to Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the "Red dean of Canterbury," when the British churchman arrived in Milwaukee Thursday afternoon to speak at a public meeting on the subject, "The Road to Peace With Russia." Mayor Zeidler refused the request and his explanation deserves much wider circulation than the confines of the City of Milwaukee.

Said Mayor Zeidler, "The right of free speech should certainly prevail, and the dean has a right to express his opinion about the Soviet Union. But if I met the dean I should be compelled to exercise my own right of free speech and state in no uncertain terms my opposition to concepts he has promulgated. This would cause embarrassment."

Mayor Zeidler, who carries a card in the AFL draftsmen's union, said further: "As a member of organized labor I cannot view lightly the development of the principle of a slave state, where the products of the toil of millions of workers are expropriated from them by the simple device of classing them as political prisoners."

"The dean is certainly welcome to look over evidences of democracy as carried out by the free labor movement in Milwaukee. I hope he will recognize how much better conditions are here for the average working man."

It is difficult to comprehend how a churchman, any churchman dedicated to Christianity, can logically and sincerely defend the godless principle of Communism. If Dr. Johnson cannot find the fallacy of Communism from the religious viewpoint, perhaps, as Mayor Zeidler suggested, the Red dean might be impressed by how much better conditions are in America for the working man under our capitalistic system than they are in Russia, the Communist state.

Low Cost Housing

IF RAYMOND M. FOLEY, FHA boss, is guessing correctly, a new upswing in low cost home building is developing. Foley predicted in Washington this week that builders will turn to the lower price market next year in order to keep busy. Foley based this prediction upon the fact that builders had already skimmed the cream off the housing market and that housing construction has shown a steady decline since June.

Another factor in the prediction for more low cost housing is the FHA's newest financing plan, made available in September. This plan provides for FHA insurance up to 95 per cent on 30 year loans for homes costing less than $6,300. This plan has not received much response up to now, primarily because this is the seasonal decline in housing construction, but it is anticipated that wide use of this plan will develop in 1949.

Whether Foley's prediction is simply the result of wishful thinking or not will be determined in the months ahead. Certainly the need for more housing continues to be urgent, but the market for $12,000 homes is extremely limited. Whether builders can actually construct houses for $6,300 that will satisfy the low income market is questionable, too. If the $6,000 house will be just half the quality of the houses now selling for $12,000, the market is certainly not going to be too strong. The industry will have to turn out something better than that to attract any appreciable number of buyers.

WHODUNIT? DINNY DIDN'T

(Christian Science Monitor)

There is new mystery along the Suwannee River. Giant tracks that are strangely similar to those dusted off by geological expeditions in the cretaceous and tertiary badlands of western United States have been found. Only these are in fresh Suwannee River mud.

Local residents are as mystified as the hordes of winter visitors now beginning to arrive in the land of Ponce de Leon. Many have gone out of their way by a hundred miles or more in hopes of being the first to spot a "live modern dinosaur." There is even speculation concerning the species of creature to look for. Localities are rooting for a Triceratopsian type. Visitors prefer Tyrannosaurus rex, and point out that the carnivorous variety is more likely since this creature walks on its hind legs.

But so far as men of research are concerned, there is every indication that the wisdom of biologist Ivan Sanderson, popular writer and radio commentator on natural history, will prevail. Mr. Sanderson made a chart of the fresh tracks, and before departing on a boat trip up the Suwannee announced they were "man-made."

However, the natives are not giving up so easily. Apparently it is much better for the tourist trade to continue the air of mystery and skepticism as long as it will last. But a word of advice to the man who wears the dinosaur shoes—be careful in mud that's overly soft. Man a dinosaur is a finely preserved fossil today because it ventured over ground that was too treacherous.

There ought to be a period of silence on reorganization of the Republican party, while the nation turns to the new administration and lends its best efforts to peace and well-being during the four years ahead. Besides, the Republican party really should try much longer than it has since Nov. 2, to permit some salty seasoning, the chance to get well enough done for taste. . . and still be sunny side up.

Comanche: How about the word "try"? Should it rhyme with "grist," or should the "y" be pronounced as in the word "try"?—R. C.

Situation Grows Worse In China

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—Each day both in the state department and in the economics cooperation administration, telephone calls are put through to Nanking and Shanghai in tottering nationalist China.

Each day the news seems to be worse, even though temporary victories may conceal for a time the true condition. It is not hard to imagine the sensation of the official at the Washington end of the line hearing the voice coming from so far with its message of imminent disaster. The cry for help and more help echoes in the vacuum of American failure.

No matter what is done about China in the weeks to come, the failure of United States policy is a glaring and inescapable fact. Rather, the failure is in having no policy at all.

Those who have argued the urgent necessity for a constructive, positive policy not only in China but in all of Asia, now have the dubious satisfaction of saying, "I told you so." The fault does not lie with Secretary of State Marshall alone, nor can it be placed entirely on that convenient whipping boy, the state department, although the department has much to answer for.

PUBLIC TO CONFUSED

The failure gets down to more basic things, to public opinion, to a lack of understanding, to confusion both in government and the public mind. Having had the help of a constructive critic who knows China well, I should like to suggest some of the fundamental mistakes. When Marshall returned from his mission to China, shortly before he became secretary of state, he recommended a sort of compromise government with the "moderate" Communists as Gen. Chou Enlai, brought in. This was an unworkable proposal and it served chiefly to confirm the attitude of a great many Americans who tend to regard Chiang Kai-shek as a stubborn old reactionary who could make over China with nice, liberal reforms if only he would.

The attitude on this wave band of public opinion tends toward the sentimental. China is "The Good Earth" with missionary overtones. At the other extreme are the passionate partisans of Chiang, including important politicians and publishers. Some, such as Rep. Walter Judd of Minnesota, are sincerely devoted to the generalissimo as the only hope.

Others have had the charm treatment in the course of V. I. P. junkets to China and have tied their conspicuous and demanding egos to the fate of Chiang and Madame Chiang. Some have a direct monetary interest in bolstering the Chiang regime, and still others, like William C. Bullitt, who has gone on a sort of lame-duck mission to China for the Republicans, seem chiefly interested in making political capital out of past mistakes.

URGED NORTH CHINA AID

Between these two poles the vacuum of official policy has existed. It has not been entirely a vacuum. There have been those on lower levels who have urged a course between the two extremes.

They have recognized the weaknesses of the Chiang government which have made it far too frail a reed to place all American dependence upon. At the same time, they have had no illusions about the Communists being merely goodhearted reformers bent on breaking the ancient grip of the landlords.

Therefore, they have argued the critical need to find and work directly with other non-Communist leaders in Nationalist China. They were urging, for example, direct intervention to strengthen Fu Tso-yi, the able commander for Chiang in North China.

First, they argued that American aid should be concentrated in one or two strategic areas, preferably in North China. Chiang should be told that the United States intended to do it that aid was sent directly to Fu Tso-yi. By this kind of concentration, the graft and corruption that have demoralized the Nationalist armies should be kept down.

Even a hint that this might be done caused screams of outrage from the partisans of Chiang. Why, this was proposing to undermine our wartime ally.

As though Chiang had not already done enough to undermine himself. So nothing, or virtually nothing, has been done. If there is a plan for China at this eleventh hour, I have been able to find no trace of it. Surely, this should have been an appropriate project for the policy planning staff and its chief, George Kennan, which were introduced into the state department with so much hopeful publicity. It now is very late to plan for China.

But planning and a constructive approach are desperately needed for Southwest Asia which would quickly come under the influence of a Communist China. If we merely let events drift along, we are likely to see that whole teeming area, with its rich resources, come under the absolute sway of Communism. The warning bell in China can be heard all the way around the world.

dola should be accented on the first syllable, as "GON-doh-luh." But among railroad men, the gondola car is always called "gon-DOE-luh."—R. W.

Answer: You are quite right; gon-DOE-luh does prevail among railroaders, shipers, and many other people. But the dictionaries have not yet got around to recognizing it.

That it is wrong to end a sentence with a preposition is a superstition. Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-9, cites highest authority on the correctness of the end-of-sentence preposition. PTARMIGAN—Twenty years field study in matters dealing with game animals qualifies Forest L. "Nick" Carter of Grand Marais to speak with authority on the Michigan conservation department's proposal to import ptarmigan to the Upper Peninsula as a game bird.

Dunathan

In 1919 Carter was taking wolves and coyotes for bounty in Marquette and Dickinson counties. Two years later he was a federal forest ranger in Yellowstone National Park, where he became assistant chief ranger in 1925. Following six months in a smaller park in southern Oklahoma, Carter was transferred to northwestern Montana where he was chief ranger of Glacier National Park for five and one-half years. He came back to Michigan in 1931 and in 1933 joined the department of conservation as a conservation officer, and for ten years worked at Marquette and Grand Marais.

WANTS THE FACTS—Carter writes:

"I noticed in a recent issue of your paper the Michigan Department of Conservation is planning to spend $2,500 for the purchase of ptarmigan from Canada to plant in the Upper Peninsula."

"To date I haven't seen where the Department has issued any facts showing there is the least possible chance of ptarmigan surviving in Michigan. Still they are leading the sportsmen to believe the ptarmigan may be a future game bird of this part of the state. I wish to state here, from my experience with ptarmigan, there isn't a chance for them to survive in Michigan."

HIGH AND COLD—"I served as U. S. ranger in Glacier National Park for five and one-half years. This National Park is located in the northwestern part of Montana in the Rocky Mountains. The northern end of the park borders the southeastern corner of British Columbia and the southwestern corner of Alberta, Canada. This area contains some of the roughest mountain country in the United States and corresponds to the Canadian Rockies farther north."

"I believe this part of Montana is the only area in the United States proper where there are ptarmigan. They use to follow the mountains into the northern part of the Park but to my knowledge did not extend the 50 or 60 miles to the south end of the park. The ptarmigan spent the whole of the time in the northern part of the park close to the Canadian border. They continually stayed at a high altitude, usually from 5000 to 7000 feet. This was true in both summer and winter. I think they stayed at this altitude because it produced conditions more like those they had far her north."

NOT SUITED HERE—"In actions the ptarmigan is like our spruce hen. As a rule you can walk up to within a few feet of them at any time of the year. It seems to have no real fear. Even if the climate were suitable they would never survive in an area like Northern Michigan where civilization has taken over to the extent it has here. There is nothing in the records to show that the ptarmigan ever existed here."

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—Miss Catherine Harvey is leaving today for Detroit after spending the holidays here with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Harvey.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Gessner announce the birth of a son, Charles Herman, born Nov. 26 at St. Francis hospital.

Gladstone—Miss Naomi Staple has returned to Milwaukee to resume studies in Milwaukee Downer Seminary after spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Staple.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba—Clarence Curran has returned to this city after spending several months in Ann Arbor and Lansing.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McLaughlin, 422 South 13th street, are the parents of a daughter born Nov. 20 at St. Francis hospital.

Gladstone—Howard Krueger has returned from Big Rapids where he has attended Ferris Institute for the past 11 weeks.

even during the time of the Indian and the entry of the first white man.

"I would like to have the Department of Conservation explain why it thinks the ptarmigan would survive now. It must surely have reason to think they would stand some chance to survive or you wouldn't think it would spend $2,500 of the sportsmen's money. It is my belief that if this country is suitable for ptarmigan, there was nothing in the past to prevent them from being here."

BE-FUDDLED—"Any of us who have followed the timber know that our native game bird, the partridge, is having all it can do to exist under the present conditions. Where then does the Department of Conservation get the idea that a bird of the cold country, such as the ptarmigan, will survive here. I think the department would be showing a great deal better judgment if it extended itself towards increasing the population of the game bird we already have. To this date the Department of Conservation hasn't produced a project that has improved partridge hunting for the sportsmen. They did close the partridge season from about 1920 and kept it closed until 1932."

"Why be-fuddle the sportsmen with phony projects such as the planting of ptarmigan, or blue grouse, which has been mentioned by the department in the papers not too long ago. I spent four years in the blue grouse country of Wyoming and may have something to say about that in the near future."

COMMENT—So ends Nick Carter's letter.

Here are some comments of my own: About 12 years ago the Cleveland Cliffs company liberated 35 ptarmigan on Grand Island in Lake Superior near Munising. They disappeared shortly after liberation.

The conservation department has made several test plantings of Hungarian partridge in Menominee county. Blue grouse and Chukar partridge have been imported. Pheasant plantings have been made. All of the experiments have brought little or no success in the search to provide a new upland game bird for Northern Michigan. Yet the Chinese ring neck pheasant thrives in the Dakotas, the Hungarian partridge in Saskatchewan.

Roving Reporter

By Hal Boyle

New York, (AP)—The biggest need today is a pleasant way to get up in the morning.

In this respect England is the most civilized country on the globe. There the traveler is awakened by a rap on the door, and somebody brings a cup of hot tea in and sets it by his bed.

After ten or fifteen minutes of sipping this relaxing brew, a man is reconciled to the dismal prospect of rising and facing a rueful world.

I tried to adopt this pleasant practice in my own household. But after the first four days Frances yawned one morning and said:

"Well, Rover boy, you've been pampered long enough. It's your turn to make the tea today."

Can't Boil Water

That ended that. I'm so helpless in the kitchen I can't boil water without burning it.

The modern alarm clock, the poor man's substitute for the sunrise, in any form is the most intolerable gadget contrived by a machine-worshipping age. It is far worse than a hammer blow on the head. Once I bought a Swiss musical alarm clock, thinking this would ease the wear and tear on jangled nerves.

It played the "Blue Danube." The first week or so it wasn't bad. After that it slowly began to instill a collective nausea, so that today if I hear a waltz at any hour, day or night, I have the sensation of a workhorse undergoing the dry heaves. Somehow Strauss and the cold gray dawn don't go together any better than lavender and old snuff.

Hundreds of ways have been devised to get up on the right side of the bed in the morning. But I don't know of any that work well.

I know of people who go to sleep with a pot of coffee on a hot plate by their bedside. I know others who leave their radios turned on or are called by telephone. They all still have to get up.

The most ingenious contrivance I know of was rigged up by a screwball friend. He tied upside down on his bedstead a vacuum bottle full of hot coffee. Hanging from it was a tube with a clamp on the end.

Diaper Does Trick

When he woke up, my friend would reach up a drowsy hand, put the tube in his mouth, flip back the clamp and lie there peacefully drinking the life-giving fluid. But now he's back on alarm clocks.

"One morning the stopper came out of the bottle," he exclaimed grimly. "Did you ever get woke up by a hot coffee shower?"

At a party the other night I was complaining about the daily battle I had getting out of bed.

"My husband had the same trouble," said a pretty young matron, "but I found a way to get him up and to work on time."

"Yes?"

"Well, I had to get up first to change the baby," she said. "One morning I accidentally laid the diaper on the pillow beside my husband. He got up immediately."

"Then I started putting the diaper on the pillow deliberately. My husband never was late after that. That worked for a long time, but now I am having the same old trouble with him."

"What happened?"

"Our baby," said the lady, "is growing up."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—No. 1 upshot of the hour-long conference between President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall was that Marshall agreed to remain in the cabinet for an "indefinite period" after January 20.

Marshall tactfully reminded his chief he hadn't had a vacation in years, except for a few days that he and Mrs. Marshall spent together in Honolulu following his mission to China in 1947. He said he needed a rest badly.

However, the man who vetoed Truman's proposed Vinson mission to Moscow and who has thwarted Truman's ideas on Palestine said that he considered it his duty to stay on the job "as long as you need me."

He added that he hoped this would not mean serving the full four years of Truman's term of office. The president quickly responded that this wouldn't be necessary.

"But I can't spare you now," Truman said, in effect.

"With the international situation as it is," the president added, in effect, "I can't take a chance on putting someone else in your place until we begin to see daylight in Europe. Otherwise, I would not impose on you."

Whenever the clouds over Berlin start to clear and our economic-aid program has Western Europe safely out of the woods, Truman said, Marshall would be free to step out with a presidential blessing.

Whether this means six months, a year, or longer, neither ventured to guess.

KU KLUX KLAN

Down in Macon, Georgia, a group of American Legionnaires and church leaders are trying to head off a huge Ku Klux Klan demonstration scheduled for December 10.

The Klan has engaged the city auditorium for that date and Grand Dragon Green, at secret meetings in Atlanta, has boasted that the Macon cross-burning would be one of the biggest in Klan history—bigger than the gathering on Stone Mountain.

However, many Macon citizens, opposing the Klan, have introduced an ordinance before the city council forbidding men to hide their faces behind masks when meeting publicly. This would force the Klan either to abandon their Carnival in the auditorium, or to meet unmasked.

The big question is: Will the city council be pressured by Klan influences not to pass the ordinance? A lot of people will be watching the decision.

UNITY DINNER

Reverend Dan Poling, editor of the Christian Herald and father of one of the four chaplains who gave up their life-belts on a sinking war transport so G. I.'s might live, has just written an editorial about the importance of national unity.

"Why not," asks Dr. Poling, who has done more for unity than most men I know, "hold an all-American dinner honoring the president of the United States on the night of the inauguration? Let's make it a unanimous vote for all the world to see, hear, and understand, a vote for world security and peace."

"Perhaps no other people of the world would or could stage such a demonstration, but an Americans-all dinner on this next inauguration night would be a master stroke to help bind free peoples and all who would be free into a dynamic unity."

"I suggest the following for a national committee on arrangements with the only living former president as chairman and including all living former presidential candidates and the widows of our former presidents: Herbert Hoover, chairman; Herbert H. Lehman, treasurer; Governor Thomas E. Dewey, John W. Davis, James M. Cox, Alfred M. Landon, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. Calvin D. Coolidge, and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson."

"But recognizing the fact that an idea such as this can die before it is fully born, why not you and I make it come alive in our own homes and organizations? Here is a time for a man to practice what he preaches and having talked it over with my associates at Christian Herald Magazine, we shall have our Americans-all dinner on January 20, 1949. Representing in our organization every faith, every color and every racial strain, we qualify for the occasion! We shall come together and honor our president."

"And we shall do something more. In the spirit of the occasion we shall bring a gift for the 230 million neglected and suffering children of the world. To date the United States has miserably failed to answer the United Nations' appeal for these children. We secured only $6 million of our $60 million quota, while Canada with one-eighth of our national income raised $10 million."

"On January 20th next our menu will be simple, but we shall go clear out in honoring President Truman and we make our appeal for the children's fund of the United Nations."

Note—Nothing could be a more effective sock-in-the-law for Moscow than newsreels of American business, labor leaders, farmers and just ordinary folks sitting down—united—behind the president of the United States.</

SATIRA GETS DANCING JOB

Girl Who Slew Lover Makes Comeback

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

New York—I see where this Patricia Schmidt the, slant-eyed gal who gunned her lover down in Cuba, while caught up in a fit of romantic pique, is going to reap an advertised three grand a week for doing a kooch dance in some nightclubs.

This, I would think, is an acceptable substitute for talent, and might even lead stage-struck kids to attempt a shortcut to fame by way of the snubnose. It is faster than a steady practice of the time-step, if a little rough on the target.

Miss Schmidt who used to wiggle under the name of Satira pulled a mere 18 months in a Havana juggado—pronounced hoosegow—for the sin of expressing her displeasure at a Mr. John Lester Mee with a gal to such point that Mee became deceased. Cuba being romantic and Miss Schmidt pretty, I was surprised she stayed unsprung as long as 18 months. But she is back in business, now, as an oriental-type dancer. It smacks nostalgically of the yesteryear, when a little man named Samuel J. Burger used to appear with a smoking contract before the damsel dropped the smoking gun.

There is something a little morbid in all of us, I suppose, which makes a headline-character attractive to the God-fearing yokel, even if she gained her fame by feeding her grandma a daily diet of ground glass. I remember Mr. Burger exploited the widow of Legs Diamond, the defunct gangster, and also the father of that lovely fellow, John Dillinger. Kiki Roberts, a showgirl who had shared Mr. Diamond's favors, went into the arts as a counter-attraction to Mrs. Diamond, over the burlesque runway, and business was real brisk for both lorn females for many a day.

Poor Mr. Mee seems to have been an even greater boon to show business than the late Mr. Ziegfeld. I note another item which says a Chicago nightclub is dickering for the services of his wife, to double-bill with Satira, the outcome of which negotiation has not been announced yet.

I suppose this is all part of our raucous times, and I am an old fuddy-duddy. It seems silly to spend all those years learning the piano and taking elocution when a few evenings on a shooting range, getting sharp with a gat, or a pen-chant for public dope addiction is all you need to be sure-fire at the boxoffice.

SWEDES AWAIT RICE RATIONS

There'll Be "Jul Grot" At Christmas

By Mrs. Herman G. Nelson
Stockholm, Sweden—(By Air Mail)—Rice to make the traditional "Jul grot" will be made available in small quantities to the people of Sweden this Christmas. The news that each person of Sweden will be entitled to buy 100 grams of rice, which is about one-fifth pound, for Christmas was announced the past week with front page headlines in Stockholm papers. Coupon x89 on ration card K14 has been designated as the rice coupon.

The news stories stated that every effort is being made by the government commission handling the matter to make sure that the rice will be on hand as early as possible for general distribution before Christmas but, the announcement added: "No definite guarantee can be made that the rice will arrive for Christmas."

Orders for the 100 grams of rice can be placed by the Swedish people in the stores from Nov. 15 to 23. The rice is to be obtained from Italy. Every hospital and institution of Sweden is to receive its quota of rice too.

Snowfall on Nov. 11

The first heavy snow in Stockholm fell on Nov. 11 and it immediately brought to the outdoors hundreds of children and young people with their sleds and skis. The rocky cliffs and hills in our neighborhood were quickly filled with skiers. Swedish children have quite a variety of sleds. There is the sled with steering wheel and brake in front, also a chairback, which can be folded down when not used. The kick sleds are popular. They have a chair on narrow steel runners. Frequently older boys and girls kick the sled along while a smaller sister or brother sits in the chair. Older boys and girls have coasting sleds without steering wheels.

Sunday, Nov. 7, was all Saints' day and was observed in Sweden with the decoration of graves.

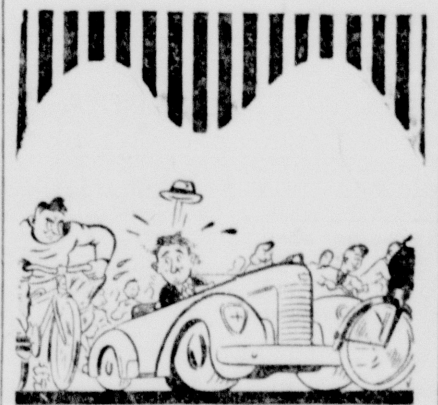

Most families made a pilgrimage to the family cemetery that day. During the previous week, market places and greenhouses were busy selling wreaths of evergreen, brightened with cones, berries or artificial flowers, for grave decorations. Many place candles or lanterns on the graves that day.

Ruth Mae excitedly came into the house on Nov. 16 to report something she had never seen before. When we looked, there it was outside our apartment building—a snow lantern. In fact, there were two of them. Snowballs three inches in diameter each had been built up into a cone-shaped tower, and there had been a lighted candle inside. The towers stood about two feet high. They had been carefully built and looked very cheery.

Fights Inflation

The organized labor movement of Sweden is joining with the government in an attempt to halt the wage-price spiral. In a meeting a Stockholm executive council of the Swedish Federation of Labor, in which all the member trade unions are represented, recommended to the unions that they extend existing collective agreements or contracts unchanged. Almost 1,000,000 workers are affected since most of the large agreements expire at the start of the new year.

The federalist's statement said that under present conditions im-

When Is A Puncture Not A Puncture? B. F. Goodrich Technicians Have Answer

Pretty Louise Brown of Akron, Ohio is shown above as she demonstrates the puncture-sealing qualities of B. F. Goodrich's Seal-o-matic tubes. She is shown removing the last of several nails which had been driven through the tire into the tube. The sealing element of the tube closes punctures immediately and without loss of air.

The above illustration to the right shows just what happens when a nail or other object is driven into a B. F. Goodrich Seal-o-matic tube. The special sealant immediately closes the opening without loss of air.

When is a puncture not a puncture? The answer, B. F. Goodrich tire technicians say, is readily found by motorists who use Seal-o-matic, puncture-sealing tubes. A special sealing compound, shown inside the tube illustrated to the right above, instantly closes any opening made by a nail, a spike, a piece of glass or other foreign matter. Instant sealing without loss of air, occurs both when the nail or other puncturing object enters the tube and when it is removed by a twisting motion.

In addition to providing the safe trouble-free driving, use of Seal-o-matics eliminates the inconvenience and work formerly necessitated when the tube had to be removed from the tire while traveling. Seal-o-matic tubes and other B. F. Goodrich products are available locally through your B. F. Goodrich store located at 1300 Ludington.

Home Combines Two Early American Styles

The EDGEWOOD

Features of two familiar Early American styles are happily combined in the five-room cottage plan introduced today by the Home of the Week Plan Service.

By adding a salt-box ell to a Cape Cod cottage, the designer has produced a home which is not only quaint and highly pleasing to the eye, but also extremely practical. The ell serves as a one-car garage.

The house is small, but well laid out, and includes all the conveniences the builder of moderate means can reasonably expect.

Some objection may be raised to the loss of floor space on the second floor, resulting from the sloping roof, but this loss has been partially offset by utilizing space under the eaves for built-in cupboards and chests of drawers.

The outside dimensions of the house, which is called "The Edgewood," are 22x28 feet. The garage ell will add 10 feet to the width. The cubic content, including the garage is 15,000 feet.

Like most of the other plans in this series, the blueprints of the Edgewood give the builder a certain amount of leeway; changes can be made to meet his individual tastes and needs.

For example, in the photograph of the house, which accompanies this article, it will be noted that the arrangement of the side windows varies slightly from that shown in the plan. With this layout, the sink would be installed under the small window, instead of being placed against the rear wall, as the plan indicates.

In the living room, if the builder desires, a door can be cut through into the rear service hall. This would improve circulation through the house and possibly save the housewife many steps in the course of a day.

A storm-shelter at the front entrance of the cottage is provided by a copper-hooded framework, adorned at either side by vine-covered trellises. A glass door and storm windows, that fasten directly to the framework make the entry snug in winter. Thus, throughout the year, the entry serves a practical use. Flanked by a low, white picket fence, the covered stoop also adds quaintness to the cottage's appearance.

From the small entrance hall a straight, inclosed stairway rises to the second story. Beside the stairs here is a coat closet. At either side of the hall, arches or cased openings give access to living room and dining room.

The living room has a floor area of 11x21 feet. Centered in the long outside wall is a fireplace with simple stock mantel. Colonial in character. Four windows give excellent cross lighting and ventilation, leaving one long unbroken wall space for large furniture pieces.

Across the hall, the dining room, 10x11.6 feet in floor measurements, has a built-in corner china cupboard.

Attractive View from Kitchen
The kitchen is 9x12 feet in floor measurements. Working counter, sink and wall cabinets occupy one entire wall. A window above the sink looks out on a terrace or porch at the rear of the house. Screened-in, this terrace or porch would make a pleasant, secluded spot for summer-time breakfasts and suppers.

In the kitchen, which has a linoleum covered floor and linoleum surfaced working counter, the refrigerator is placed at one side of the doorway to the dining room, the range on the other side of the doorway, receiving side light from an adjacent window. A door from the kitchen opens on the service hall from which stairs lead to the basement.

On the second floor are two bedrooms and a bathroom, all opening off a small hall area at the top of the stairway. The larger bedroom, measuring 11x14 feet, has three windows and a large clothes closet. The second bedroom measures 12x12 feet. It has two windows, giving cross-ventilation, and a closet of ample proportions.

Both bedrooms, as already mentioned, have built-in drawers and cupboards utilizing under-eaves space. Each room also is planned with wall spaces that permit an occasional rearrangement of furniture.

FLOOR RESILIENCY
Excessively springy floors do not have to be tolerated by the home owner, for this condition can frequently be corrected without great cost. The floor should be examined by a competent carpenter, and the necessary repairs made.

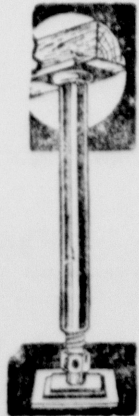

One cause of floors springing when walked upon may be floor joists that are too small or too widely spaced. Floors that are properly braced with bridging usually have too much resilience; however, all wood floors have a certain amount of spring.

House Value May Depend On Its Care

A home is usually the largest single investment of a family, and as such, deserves measures that will guard against its depreciation.

Appraisers recently have been trying to get away from old rule-of-thumb practices and their reform may recognize the differences among families in keeping a house from depreciating. This will favor owners who care well for their properties.

The old rule, for instance, gives a house an "economic life" of 33 years; yet its "physical life" is much longer. The old rule thus allowed 3 per cent depreciation a year; 30 per cent for a 10-year-old house; 60 per cent for the 20 years old. This "economic life" tries to combine financial and physical values.

"Physical Life" Longer
Physical tables indicate a frame house 33 years old still is worth 55 per cent of the original cost, however.

Different parts of a house have varying "life" periods and the owner who makes repairs and replacements at the proper times can save a big share on his investment. Thus for iron cold water pipes, depreciation is 3 1-3 per cent a year; heating boilers, 5 per cent; awnings, 20 per cent; lighting fixtures, 7 per cent.

The family which keeps its repairs and replacements up properly may thus 50 years from now, have a frame house worth close to the original investment—provided other factors such as changing styles, neighborhood decay and population shifts have not hurt it otherwise.

A Tip For Buyers
This would also give a cue to the buyer of a new home to see that items of construction and equipment are of a nature that assure long life, thus increasing the long-range soundness of the investment. And by the time today's home buyer has lived in his house a decade or so, perhaps a sound system of depreciation will have been worked out from present complex studies. If so, the good owner is sure to benefit.

Linoleums Matched For Walls and Floor

An interesting combination for modern kitchens can be found in matched wall and floor linoleums.

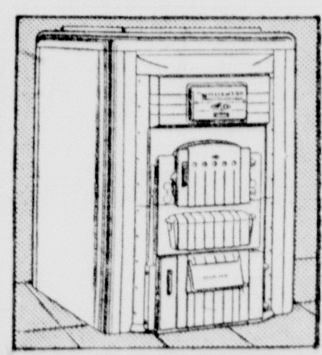

Wall linoleum, as a treatment for side walls, reflects the qualities that have made it popular for floors. Harmonious wall and floor blends are obtainable.

Another use of wall linoleum, said by builders to be growing in popularity, is in shower stalls.

Large Furnace Often Is Best

In planning a new or remodelled home, don't skimp on the size of the furnace.

The difference in cost between an over-size furnace and one that is "just large enough" for the house in an average house is not very great; and when an extra cold winter comes along, as such winters do, every so often, you are likely to save more in fuel than the original difference in price.

You will actually burn more fuel in the smaller furnace when it is driven to its limit than you will need to keep equally warm by operating a bigger furnace well within its capacity.

Even in ordinary winter weather a little care in firing will enable you to make consistent savings in fuel by operating a large furnace at a slow rate, as compared with the higher rate necessary with a small one.

CABINET SINKS ROOMY
Cabinet style sinks lend dignity to the kitchen, provide spacious room for storage of kitchen utensils, and the eight-inch deep compartments materially lessen the effort of dishwashing.

Warns Against Air Conditioning Of Inferior Type

A warning against cheap, inferior installations purporting to supply complete air conditioning.

"The fact that home air conditioning apparatus has been greatly simplified, and thereby brought within the reach of millions of homes," the association says, "is being exploited by irresponsible firms and individuals, who have carried their claims, and their offers of 'low-cost, complete air conditioning,' far beyond what is really feasible today in sound engineering practice. What the home owner usually can expect from these gentry is disappointment."

Air ducts made of flimsy sheet metal not as heavy as required by the installation code of the association, or even using merely the studding space in partitions; cheap propeller-type fans for air circulation; "cooling units" entirely inadequate to the requirements of the home for which they are sold; are among the weaknesses of these cheap, unsound installations against which the association warns.

It suggests that home owners, before investing in any air conditioning apparatus, no matter how plausibly recommended, will do well to communicate with the association, or with one of its member firms.

"Anything you are going to live with in your home, needs to be good enough to be trusted, even if it does cost a little more," is the association's advice.

LOOSE BATH TILES

Bathroom-floor tiles, if properly laid, do not loosen, but when tiles do become loose they can be reset.

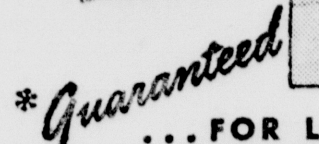

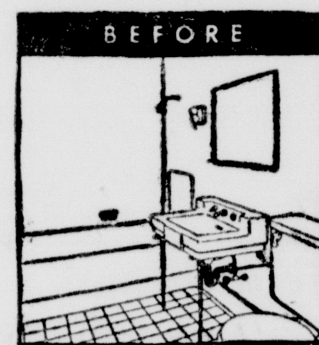

As there is no room to use a fresh layer of cement, the tiles may be attached to the floor with a mastic of the nature of glue.

ATTIC ROOMS

The attic is usually an easy and economical place in which to add bedrooms or playrooms. With such an addition one changes a five-room house to a six- or seven-room house without adding a wing or becoming involved in serious structural changes.

Adequate ventilation and light for these rooms can be provided by adding dormers and windows in the gable. If possible, dormers should be added in both front and rear so that there will be thorough cross-ventilation.

Elbows Tell Tales

About Your Age
BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Elbows are gossips which tell tales about a woman's age.

But such gossiping can be stopped. That's the idea behind a new treatment package. This includes the kind of cream that's needed for lubricating dry skin and a little pumice pillow designed to be used to slough off scalliness or callouses.

An important supplementary item available for use with these products is a pair of pink satin elbow bands. Lined with washable acetate, such bands are designed to keep cream on skin where it's wanted; off clothes or bed sheets where it is most unwelcome.

The makers of these specialized treatment items suggest that the elbow bands be worn for at least one hour, preferably overnight in order to keep the skin cream confined to the skin as long as possible. In the morning, cream is removed and the tiny pumice pillow, which is packed with slightly abrasive powder, is patted and rubbed gently over the elbows in a skin-smoothing routine.

To make a sauce for barbecued spare ribs combine a quarter cup of cider vinegar, a half cup of savory bottled thick brown sauce (the kind usually used as an accompaniment for cold meat or steak), one and a half teaspoons salt and two teaspoons prepared mustard. Pour the liquid mixture over about three pounds of fresh pork ribs and bake in a moderate oven for about an hour and a half. Baste frequently with the sauce, adding a little water at the end of the roasting time if necessary.

Swansons and with friends here, left Saturday for Iron Mountain to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Nelson.

Miss Beaudry
Bride Today In

Yellow chrysanthemums graced the church altar for the double ring service, performed by the Rev. T. A. O'Reilly, who also celebrated the nuptial mass. Two hundred guests gathered in the church for the 9 o'clock ceremony.

The bride's gown was fashioned with an off-the-shoulder neckline, edged in chantilly lace and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. Chantilly lace accented the fitted waistline, and cascaded down the back of the gown to edge the long court train. A beaded headpiece held her fingertip veil of bridal illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Theresa Beaudry as maid of honor, wore an autumn green tulle gown with off-the-shoulder lines and full skirt. Her tulle mitts were of a matching hue, and her headpiece of yellow chrysanthemums. Bronze and yellow chrysanthemums mingled in her bouquet.

As flower girl, Mary Margaret Higgins was clad in lemon yellow tulle, designed with a Peter Pan collar, fitted waistline tied with green velvet bows, and a full gathered skirt. She wore matching mitts, a yellow chrysanthemum headpiece, and carried a basket of rose petals.

Joseph Patrick Higgins was best man. Ushers were Edward and Jack Sreenan and Robert Litchfuss, Jr. Mrs. John Laffin presided at the organ, and Miss Janet McNabb sang "Ave Maria," "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," and "Oh, Lord I Am Not Worthy."

Breakfast and Reception

THIEF VISITS MARTIN HOME

Takes Advantage Of Few Hours Absence

State and city police are investigating a burglary at the Norman Martin home at 536 Arbutus avenue early Thursday evening. They are looking for a young man of about medium height, who wears about a number 8 shoe, a checkered mackinaw and who has a cut on his hand or wrist.

The prowler took advantage of the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Martin, but was nearly caught in the act.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin had left their home about 4:40 o'clock in the afternoon and at 7:30 in the evening drove up to the house.

"Did you leave the light on?" Mr. Martin asked his wife.

Startled by what she saw, she answered that she certainly had not. And she had no more than said so when the light went off.

Both agreed that something certainly was amiss and Martin suggested to his wife that she go to the neighbor's house and telephone the police. A short time later he saw the prowler, who had left by the back door, scurry across the back yard, vault the picket fence and disappear in the darkness toward Manistique avenue. In the subdued light he noticed that the prowler wore a checkered mackinaw and he is inclined to believe that the predominating color is green, but he isn't sure on that point.

The stranger had entered by breaking a pane in the window of the front door, reaching in and turning the latch. In doing this, he had cut himself. A small pool of blood was found on the floor and the light which he had turned on also was smeared.

All that was taken was $18 lying on the dresser. A powder box was opened and its contents spilled.

Four Pay Fines For Having Guns In Automobiles

Keeping guns handy in a car while traveling through a game area is an infringement of the state game laws of which many people apparently are unaware. Four people paid fines in justice court Friday morning for violation of this law in varied degrees.

Edward C. Cheney and Delbert E. Leamer, of Flint, also pleaded guilty to the same charge, but leniency was shown in their case because the guns were unloaded. Their fine of $10 was suspended and they settled with costs of $8.50 each.

Arrests in these three cases were made by Conservation Officer Harold Peters.

Edward Marsh, whose home address is not listed, paid a $10 fine and costs of $8.50 for having a loaded gun in his car while passing through a game area.

GOD'S INVASION ARMY COMING

Will Hold Services At Bethel Baptist

Gospel services of an unusual nature have been booked for this coming week at the Bethel Baptist church, when a group of 16 people, banded together in a unit known as "God's Invasion Army," will conduct meetings of an Evangelistic nature.

Hailing from large and small cities, towns and villages throughout the country, these young people have offered one year of their lives in full-time Christian work.

All of them being young people and alive to young people's problems, youth will be the dominating theme of these meetings.

Many of these young people left good positions to take time out to participate in this crusade for Christ.

Although the evangelistic movement is sponsored by the Baptist General Conference, it is being watched with interest and encouraged by other denominations.

The young people will hold nightly meetings at 7:30 o'clock, beginning Tuesday and ending Sunday. They will also hold afternoon meetings for school children beginning at 4 o'clock on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Saturday night will be a youth rally.

They will conduct a house to house visitation throughout morning and early afternoons.

Part of the group will work in the Gulliver vicinity as well as in Manistique.

WILLIAM TIDD, MUNISING, DIES

Long Active In Civic, Business Affairs

Munising, Nov. 27.—William A. Tidd, 62, a resident of Munising for 42 years and one of its most prominent citizens, died at his residence at 310 West Munising avenue at 2:30 yesterday afternoon after an extended illness. He had been in poor health for about two years.

Mr. Tidd, manager of the Munising Telephone and Electric company here, was born July 5, 1886 in Bachelor, Mich. He came to Shingleton in Alger county in 1906, and with the exception of service in the U. S. Navy during World War I, he has been a resident of this area ever since.

Besides his wife, Bertha, he leaves his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Tidd, a son, William James; two daughters, Mrs. Andrew Soukup and Mrs. H. D. Evans, all of Munising, and two grandchildren.

The body was taken to Beaulieu's funeral home, where it will remain until services are held in the Presbyterian church here at 2 p. m. Monday, with the Rev. F. J. Drew, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church, Munising, officiating. Burial will be made in Maple Grove cemetery.

Mr. Tidd was an active member of the Francis M. Moore Conservatory, a life member of the Ahmed Temple Shrine of Marquette, a member of the Odd Fellows since 1906, the American Legion post, the Alger county Chamber of Commerce and the Munising hospital board.

Friends may call after 7 p. m. Saturday. In addition to services at the church, Masonic and military rites will be held at the cemetery.

Mr. Tidd became a railway station agent in Shingleton in 1906 and was later associated with the late Arthur Bauman in general mercantile business under the name of Bauman and Company. He sold his partnership when the United States entered World War I and enlisted in the Navy. He had special training in wireless at Harvard university and later was sent to the European theater and to Murmansk, Russia, where he installed a wireless station and participated in other military operations until shortly after the Armistice was signed.

At the conclusion of hostilities, he remained in the U. S. Navy Reserves but returned to Alger county, where he was associated with one of the larger wholesale grocery houses for a time and later became a partner with the late William W. Carmody in the Carmody-Tidd Ford agency. He sold his interests several years ago to A. Atkinson.

In 1920, he purchased the interest of William R. Burns in the Munising Telephone and Electric company and served as its president and general manager until his death.

During this period, the company extended its line throughout Alger county, modernized its plant and became the largest independent telephone exchange in the Upper Peninsula.

Early in life, Mr. Tidd became interested in public affairs and served as Justice of the Peace in Munising township for several years. He later became a supervisor and was elected chairman of the Alger county board of supervisors.

He was an early member of the Roderick Prato American Legion post here and was very active in Legion affairs.

In Memoriam

To the beautiful memory of our dearly beloved mother, daughter and sister, Mary, who passed away four years ago today, Nov. 27, 1944.

God called her up to Heaven. On a cold and wintry day, Her work on earth completed, He took her there to stay. Her loving eyes He closed to sleep, He knew she needed rest, He called her to her Heavenly home.

Our Lord knew it was best, Her toil worn hands she folded, In prayer for us to try To climb the rocky pathway, Which leads to God on high. He placed a smile upon her lips, Which only angels bear. Her soul is peaceful, happy, free, She knows no sorrow there. I know that Mary is waiting, To see us all once more, When God in His glorious mercy Calls us all to that Heavenly home.

The body was taken to the Anderson funeral home and will be in state Sunday afternoon. Services will be held at the funeral home chapel at 2 p. m. Monday with burial in Lakeview cemetery.

Alabama Lowlands Menaced By Flood; Rain Sets Record

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 27. (AP)—A "definite flood threat" was forecast for Alabama lowlands as rivers continued to rise today and heavy rains moved northward.

Rainfall at Montgomery set an all time record yesterday. The U. S. weather bureau reported 5.91 inches for the 24-hour period ending last night and the rains continued to fall.

Meteorologists predicted a "danger stage" of 48 feet for the Alabama river in Wilcox county by tomorrow. Officials said the Tallapoosa river at Milledgeville might reach 30 feet or more today, flooding the lowlands.

Yesterday's rain and high winds demolished five buildings and damaged nine others in remote sections of Louisiana.

FARMER WOUNDED

Jonesville (AP)—B. A. Walpole, a well-known Christmas tree grower and former faculty member of Michigan State college, was accidentally wounded Friday by unidentified hunters on his farm. Three shotgun pellets were removed from his lower jaw at the Hillsdale Community Health Center.

The first lighthouse in the United States exposed to the sea was that on Minots Ledge, a reef off Boston. It was built in 1848, destroyed a year later, and replaced in 1860.

ROLL OUT THE BARREL — Kansas voters, who repealed the state's 68-year-old dry law, are going to have a celebration, but it'll be with 3.2 beer. No hard liquor can be served until the legislature acts, so Topeka tavern owner Daniel Dreiling rolls out a barrel of 3.2 beer.

Practical Nursing Training Given at Marquette Center

A program of training for women and girls who wish to enter the practical nursing profession is being offered by the Upper Peninsula School for Practical Nursing in Marquette, which at present is training its third class of young women from all parts of Upper Michigan.

This program which first was established in Michigan as a three-year experiment financed by the Kellogg Foundation, already has developed to a point where licensing of the practical nurse, now in effect in 23 states, is being considered.

The Upper Peninsula School is in charge of Miss Eunie B. Willis. Under her direction students learn nursing procedures and homemaking skills that accompany them, the classes taught by professional nurse and home economics instructors. The students are carefully trained to care for convalescent, medical, surgical and maternity patients as well as the chronically ill and sick children.

Trenary

Cat Scratches Up $2,200 In Bills For New York Man

New York, Nov. 27. (AP)—The $2,200 in bills that the Myron family's cat scratched up three months ago will be turned over to Dr. Chester Myron, of Jackson Heights, Queens, next Friday.

The bills were discovered in old radiators stored in the garage when the four Myron children chased the cat into the building.

The cat scampered up to a loft, and shortly the children below were showered with $10, $20 and $50 bills.

A relative of a previous occupant of the house claimed the money, but police property clerk Frank Leuci ruled yesterday that ownership had not been established.

Galesburg Hunter Safe; Hunt Goes On For Champion Boy

By The Associated Press

A 73-year-old deer hunter missing for more than 24 hours in the swamplands between Higgins and Houghton Lake has been found in good condition, the state conservation department reported today (Saturday).

State police and volunteer searchers located Howard Struble of Galesburg late Friday. He had become separated from others in his party on Thanksgiving Day.

The long hunt for 15-year-old Roger LaPine still went on, but there was little hope of success. The Champion youth disappeared Nov. 19.

As the season waned, some new hunters took to the woods for the final weekend. The season closes Tuesday.

Helicopter Carries Mail From Chicago

Washington, Nov. 27. (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board has authorized a five-year experiment in helicopter airmail service within a 50 mile radius of the Chicago airport.

The service will be operated by Helicopter Air Service, Inc., which has been flying rotary wing aircraft in that vicinity as an independent commercial operation.

It is the second airmail operation of its kind authorized by the board. The other one is at Los Angeles, where a certificate was granted to Los Angeles Air Ways Inc. in June, 1947.

The Chicago service was ordered specifically to serve 44 communities in Illinois and Indiana, but the operator may add additional points when mail service is found necessary without formally applying for a route change.

THRONE BOOTBLACK—After descending from what is probably the world's gaudiest bootblack stand, a customer is helped on with his coat by Genaro Esposito, enterprising Neapolitan bootblack. The stand is a throne, apparently "liberated" by Neapolitan, and once stood in the royal palace of Naples. Police wink at his unorthodox use of the ornate relic and even overlook his overcharging. Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 27. (AP)—The University of Michigan will resume its Workers' Education Service in revised form Jan. 3, President Alexander G. Ruthven announced today.

They were suspended two months ago after a General Motors official charged at a congressional hearing that "Marxist doctrines" were being taught in one of the classes. This touched off a bitter protest from union and other groups.

Ruthven said university officials will review the courses in labor economics and collective bargaining between now and Jan. 3. He gave no details of the reorganization. But he said the courses would "meet the practical needs of workers" and "should help the worker on his job and as a citizen."

Schoolboy's Death Ends His Suffering With Rare Malady

Seffner, Fla., Nov. 27. (AP)—Suffering for Donald Younglove has ended. He died yesterday.

The 14-year-old star student, who knew he was going to die, was victim of a strange and painful disease—dermatomyositis. The illness caused his muscles to atrophy.

Donald suffered for six months. His parents and doctors stood by helplessly as his once active, 105-pound body withered to a mere 35 pounds.

The suffering was so intense that Donald pleaded with his dad, a disabled war veteran, many times to:

"Put me to sleep, please daddy, so I won't ever wake up."
